To my crazy, sweet and amazing person

YOUR BIRTHDAY HAPPY BIRTHDAY

DEAR YASH,

BREAKING NEWS: The World Got Better 22 Years Ago Today!

Today marks 22 years since the world was blessed with the most wonderful, kind hearted, and beautifully crazy person, you.

From the smile that lights up every room to the heart that makes everything feel like home, you make life more beautiful simply by being in it. Over the years, you have grown into someone strong, loving, and deeply inspiring, someone who turns ordinary moments into unforgettable memories and simple days into something magical.

Being with you means laughter that feels endless, comfort that feels safe, support that feels steady, and a love that feels warm, real, and true.

On your 22nd birthday, I hope you are surrounded by everything you deserve, love that overflows, success that excites you, happiness that stays, and dreams that unfold exactly the way you imagine.

And I promise to stand right by your side, cheering you on, loving you endlessly, and choosing you every single day.

Happy Birthday, my love.

The best stories begin with you, and my favorite story will always be us.

You're basically a limited-edition model: adorable face, chaotic personality, and zero user manual. Still, I'd choose you in every lifetime, even if you steal my snacks and my heart.

May your cake be huge, your pictures be cute, and your life be filled with happiness, hugs, and a sprinkle of fun (because you're entertaining and I love the chaos you bring).

Thank you for being my safe place, my laughter, my late-night talks, and my favorite person to do absolutely nothing with. You make my world brighter just by existing, and somehow every moment feels better when you're in it.

Happy Birthday, my love!!!!

You're my favorite reason to smile, my favorite problem, my favorite person, and my forever choice.
